Being a Loving Listener

The fourth Sunday of Easter is also called Good Shepherd Sunday. In each of the three lectionary cycles, the Gospel reading is taken from the tenth chapter of John. Set in a moment of tension and conflict, Jesus answers the question, “Are you the Messiah?” He answers the question with a familiar image of the time, a Good Shepherd. This familiar depiction has endured over the centuries as a primary image of Jesus in our faith tradition. The image speaks to us about Jesus’ protection, safety, and care for his followers. It speaks powerfully about the familiarity and intimacy between Jesus and his disciples, expressed as recognizing and knowing one another’s voice. Jesus’ familiarity and intimacy is not just with us, but he identifies being closely connected to the Father; so close that they are one.

What images speak to us about familiarity and intimacy? In my mind it brings up images of friends sitting together over a cup of coffee, a couple taking a walk together, a parent and child sharing a special moment, or a teacher and student engaging in deep conversation. There is something unique about another human being giving you their time and full attention, not to tell you what they know about anything and everything, but because they sincerely care about your well-being and want to understand you. We know who they are because we feel good after having spent time with them.

The great theologian and philosopher of our time, Paul Tillich, wrote a book titled Love, Power, and Justice. He writes a relevant passage about love and listening. In it, Tillich is discussing “the relation of justice to love in personal encounters.” He writes: “love can adequately be described through three functions of creative justice, namely, listening, giving, forgiving. In none of them does love do more than justice demands, but in each of them love recognizes what justice demands. In order to know what is just in a person-to-person encounter, love listens. It is its first task to listen. No human relation, especially no intimate one, is possible without mutual listening. Reproaches, reactions, defenses may be justified in terms of proportional justice. But perhaps they would prove to be unjust if there were more mutual listening. All things and all men, so to speak, call on us with small or loud voices. They want us to listen, they want us to understand their intrinsic claims, their justice of being. They want justice from us. But we can give it to them only through the love which listens.”

In today’s world of disconnection, multi-tasking, and distraction, the art of listening is very important. Listening is our access to understanding. We are constantly being bombarded with information from emails, phones and the media, which can lessen our capacity for concentration and contemplation. Franciscan priest, Fr. Richard Rohr says: “A good journey begins knowing where we are and being willing to go somewhere else.” Are you willing to go somewhere else with your listening? There is hearing, and there is listening. Each seems to have its own nuance. Sometimes our frenetic lives drown out small voices. We need to tune our hearts toward hearing the holy in the midst of the ordinary. We need to be adept at listening well to the things that really matter if we seek to be attuned to God’s voice. We need to listen with the big picture in mind. We need to listen with our smallness and our selfishness set aside. We need to listen to ourselves and our bodies in a generous and faithful fashion. We must bring this same act of listening to our conversations. We need to be “all in.” When we come to a conversation, we should come with all our attention; we need to come with our ears of love. Paul Tillich says, “the first duty of love is to listen.” The opposite of talking is not waiting to talk.

But what does God’s voice sound like? It will sound like the voice of risk, of trust, of surrender, of soul, of common sense, of destiny, of love, of an intimate stranger, of your deepest self. God never leads by guilt or shame! God leads by loving the soul at ever-deeper levels, not by shaming at superficial levels. What are some ways that you listen to God? To those around you? To the events of the day? To creation? How would you describe having ears of love? What are some things that hinder us from being loving listeners? What might be some qualities of a loving listener? What are some things that you could do to help you listen better? How could you start to put those things into practice?

On behalf of Fr. Terry, the staff of Holy Family, and myself, we wish to extend our appreciation to all women for their boundless love, sacrifices, courage, and wisdom. May Mother’s Day expand our vision as we remember all women, both past and present, who have done so much to shape, mold, work for, and nurture our collective souls. Let us incorporate into Mother’s Day not only mothers, but all women from different backgrounds and walks of life who have made significant contributions to our world. Let us also honor all women who have struggled with infertility or who have lost a child. Let us recognize the joys, passions, ambitions, and pains of all women on Mother’s Day.

Preparing for Next Week...

Watch our weekly SCC reflection @ <https://www.youtube.com/user/HFIInverness/videos>.
Click on reflections for Sunday Readings 5-19-19 and listen to Fr. Richard Rohr reflect on the readings.

Fifth Sunday of Easter

1. We hear in our first reading that: "It is through many persecutions that we must enter the kingdom of God." Though most of us today are not persecuted, how does this scripture still apply to us?
2. Paul and Barnabas related how God had opened a door of faith for the Gentiles. Who do we, as individuals and the Church, need to open a door of faith to today?
3. In Revelation we hear: "See, the home of God is among mortals." Does this statement change or support your view of eternity?
4. In our Gospel, the term "glorify" is used multiple times. What does the word glorify mean to you? In our secular world, are too many people "glorified" today?
5. Jesus said, "I give you a new commandment: love one another." Are we doing a sufficient job of this? What more could you be doing?
6. Jesus said, "I give you a new commandment: love one another." How does Holy Family Catholic Community show their love for one another? How can we improve?

The Parish Support & Services Community...

oversees the parish business and infrastructure activities to ensure they operate efficiently.

The shortfall in this years' Christmas and Easter collections have resulted in a loss of $30,000 for the parish through the first three quarters of the fiscal year ending June 30, 2019. At the current giving rate for Sunday contributions the parish is forecasted to lose $70,000 for the year.

The Parish has continued to manage expenses below budget for the first three quarters and expects this trend to continue through the 4th quarter. Specific areas of savings are salaries, fringes, and administrative expenses. Unfortunately, the difficult winter has challenged the budget causing increases in snow removal and utilities. However, expenses will still show a decrease year over year.

Your response to our Sunday collection budget catchup last fall is greatly appreciated. The impact of the two holiday collections on our revenue has created the need to ask you to consider increasing your contributions by $10 per week or a onetime gift of $100. Thank you for your consideration and participation.

The Human Concerns Community...

offers assistance with life's basic needs, spiritual and emotional support as well as additional resources with partners in our community while promoting mercy and justice by putting our faith into action.

Dear Sisters and Brothers in Christ,

In the Gospels, Jesus teaches us to be a living expression of God's kindness, showing the light of God's goodness and mercy to all of our brothers and sisters, but especially to the poor, the vulnerable, and those facing challenging circumstances. Each year on Mother's Day, Catholic Charities invites us to be a living expression of God's goodness through our gift to the Catholic Charities Mother's Day Collection. With our support, Catholic Charities carries out the important work of the Church to help the poor and vulnerable in the Archdiocese of Chicago.

People often come to Catholic Charities at the most difficult times of their lives—hungry, afraid, hurting, alone, homeless, helpless, hopeless. Catholic Charities cares for people at these desperate times, helping them rebuild their lives and restoring hope for the future.

Catholic Charities provides a broad range of services to people of all ages and at every stage of life, regardless of religion or background. Whether it's helping young mothers with pregnancy and parenting services; offering educational and support programs for at-risk children and teens; counseling those facing addiction, mental illness or grief; delivering emergency assistance to families coping with homelessness and hunger; or providing affordable housing and a variety of in-home services for seniors. Catholic Charities brings Christ's love and mercy to the people and the places that need it most.

We each have an important role to play in the Church's sacred mission to care for those in need. Please accept my sincere gratitude for your past support of the Catholic Charities Mother's Day Collection, and please consider being as generous as you can again this year. Contributions can be made during the regular collection on Mother's Day using the envelopes provided in the narthex, anytime at www.catholiccharities.net/donate. or mail your gift to Catholic Charities, 721 N. LaSalle Street, Chicago, IL 60654. May God bless you and those you love this Mother's Day and always.

With every good wish, I remain
Sincerely yours in Christ,
Blase Cardinal Cupich, Archbishop of Chicago

May is National Mental Health Awareness Month

Pope John Paul II's 1977 message to healthcare workers in the L'Osservatore Romano Weekly Edition states "Whoever suffers from mental illness always bears God's image and likeness in (themselves), as does every human being. In addition, (people with mental illness) always have the inalienable right not only to be considered as an image of God and therefore as a person, but also to be treated as such."

The people of God, the church, are called to be communities of compassion, hope and justice for people with mental illness and their families. It is important that persons with mental illness feel welcomed and supported within the parish. This requires the purest spiritual outreach, i.e., non-judgmental love and acceptance of the individual. The more that parishes can project non-judgmental love, the more its members suffering with mental illness, or those who have a family member with mental illness, are likely to acknowledge their needs and overcome their fears of rejection.

Excerpts from Deacon Tom Lambert's Mental Illness and Justice Issues. Deacon Tom is on the Chicago Archdiocese Commission on Mental Illness. The full report is available at the Social Justice table in the west coatroom.
