

Tenderness Toward Creation

Tuesday, January 31 at 7pm

THIS IS A FREE EVENT!

Presentation and time for discussion breakouts
Light hospitality will be served

Join us for an evening to learn more about our responsibility as a people of faith to protect our common home for the wellbeing of all. Catholic social teaching calls us to be stewards of God's creation and live in solidarity as we have deep connections in relationships with each other, our Creator and all of creation. Our actions, even the simplest ones, can have a profound effect on the ecological balance in pursuit of global environmental sustainability.

Dan Huntsha

North & West Chicago
Suburbs Outreach Director

Dan joined Faith in Place in 2015 to help with our smart energy programs in the western and northwestern Chicago suburbs.

He grew up in the northwest suburbs of Chicago, currently resides in Rolling Meadows, and is a member of Countryside Church Unitarian Universalist. His B.A. in Communications is from DePauw University, and he previously volunteered with environmental education and advocacy organizations including The John G. Shedd Aquarium, Sierra Club, and The Climate Reality Project.

By living his philosophy, "Try to learn something from everyone," while spending time with many climate organizations, he's been able to develop a creative climate communication style that produces action. He strives to be a catalyst for positive healthy change by connecting people's existing passions with Faith in Place's action-focused programs.
